

2019 Health Sciences Education Day

Cultivating a Culture of Well-Being

AUGUSTA UNIVERSITY
Educational
Innovation Institute

MARCH 1st 8:00AM – 4:30PM

Amy Locke, MD
Visiting Professor,
Co-Director of the Resiliency Center
at University of Utah's
Health Sciences Center

AGENDA

8:00 – 9:00 AM	Planting seeds of well-being within institutions At systemic, local, and individual levels Presentation – Lee Auditorium
9:30 – 11:30 AM	Cultivating a culture of well-being Discussion - Greenblatt Library AB 1005
12:00 – 1:00 PM	Assessing and improving growing conditions for well-being Presentation - Greenblatt Library AB 1005 Refreshments provided to first 75 attendees
1:15 – 3:15 PM	Bringing together different perspectives on establishing healthier learning environments Panels - Greenblatt Library AB 1005
3:30 – 4:30 PM	Learning about resources, challenges, and tips for improving your well-being Fitness, yoga, mindfulness, art, and more Resource Expo Greenblatt Library Lobby
	Highlighting health sciences education Poster Session and Scholarship Awards Refreshments provided Greenblatt Library Lobby

Contact EII@augusta.edu for more information!

All students, staff, & faculty welcome to attend!